

HEARST MAY GAIN BY MCCARREN FIGHT

Politicians Say Attack on Boss Will Save More Votes
Than It Will Cost.

RUSH TO POLLS HEAVY

First Day's Registration Indicates
Tense Situation—Republican Up-State Campaign.

The much-mixed situation in New York politics begins to clear a little. Apparently there is a real feud between Hearst and McCarren, the Brooklyn Democratic boss; and apparently they are going to fight it out to the end. Hearst and his league are seemingly going to fight the whole McCarren movement in Brooklyn, and in doing so they may be playing good politics.

Hearst made a wonderful run in Brooklyn last fall; better than in any other borough. He demonstrated real strength with the people. If he is going to fight a boss anywhere, he could best do it there. To open up and press a little warfare against McCarren would, politicians say, distract attention largely from his alliance with the bigger boss, Murphy, of Manhattan, and by convincing many people that he is sincere in his independence of bosses might save more votes than it would cost.

Practical Politics.

This is pointed out as the practical politics of it. Hearst's league has named a Congressional ticket in Brooklyn, with one exception, distinct from the McCarren ticket. The exception is "Anti-Pass" Baker, the man who, once the butt of more ridicule than any other in Congress, is now exhibiting a vindication in all the modern languages, bound in full velleum. A league ticket of senatorial candidates is also to be named later.

The first day of registration in the city was yesterday, and the rush to the polls was heavy, indicating a tense interest in the situation.

Mayor McCallum, who is using all the power of his office over patronage to fight Hearst and Murphy, accepted the resignation of John J. Delaney, corporation counsel, and his former political lieutenant, Delaney, it is understood, having decided to cast his lot with the organization. Had he not resigned he would probably have been removed.

Cabinet in Up-State Campaign.

President Roosevelt's Cabinet is to furnish music for the oratory of the up-State campaign, in places where it will tell. Secretary Root, Secretary Shaw, and Speaker Cannon will give notes, time to the State, the latter being already announced for four speeches, and Secretary Shaw for six. Secretary Taft will do some work in the State, if possible. But he has already been promised for some speeches in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, and Colorado; in some close Congress districts, and his getting to New York is thought doubtful.

STIFF GALE SHAKES BUFFALO AT NIGHT

Damages Heavy, City in Darkness, and Vessels in Distress.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 8.—One of the fiercest gales that ever came over the lake struck Buffalo last night and blew great gusts throughout the night, finishing off today with a downpour of rain and a stiff breeze.

Nearly everything portable was blown out of position. The entire city was in darkness the greater part of the night, the storm putting the electric wires out of commission. Houses were shaken, as the blasts of wind were hurled against them, causing great fright in many homes. There were grave fears that a hurricane was beginning its destruction.

The full amount of damage caused by the storm has not yet been estimated, but it is known that it was heavy.

Much fear is felt for the safety of lake vessels caught in the storm off inland ports. It is understood that several vessels are in distress off Buffalo port.

NO HALF HOLIDAY FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

School children are today very much disappointed because they were not allowed to view the United Spanish War Veterans' parade. It was announced several days ago that a half holiday would probably be given on the strength of this announcement the children began to make great preparations for the holiday. They broke open their bright colored ribbons were procured, and everything was in readiness for an outburst of enthusiasm.

A stamp was put on their enthusiasm this morning when Superintendent Chancellor announced that in view of the fact that no official request from the Spanish War Veterans had been made relative to a holiday, he would not proclaim it.

THIEVES PLAY HAVOC IN RAILROAD STATION

St. HOLLY, N. J., Oct. 8.—Gaining an entrance into the South Jersey railroad station at night, thieves broke open the money drawer and got $40 in cash. The ticket edge was smashed. Some of the tickets were carried away and the balance, scattered over the floor. Postage stamps and other articles were taken by the thieves whose identity is unknown.

Virginians in the name of the Department of the Potomac.

Commander Sands and Captain Skipper responded to the speeches made by Commanders Mitchell and Entrikin. They stated that they extended the hospitality of Richmond to the veterans and wished the next encampment would be held there. Cordial invitations from Mayor McCarthy and Governor Swanson were presented and read. The communications were greeted with vociferous cheers.

Comical songs, dialogues, monologues, recitations, music, and yams occupied the time until the campfire was extinguished for the night.

United Veterans Welcome New Men Numbering 4,500

Unanimously voting for amalgamation with the Legion of Spanish War Veterans of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, a separate and distinct organization, the United Spanish War Veterans, now in annual encampment, welcomed 4,500 new members into their ranks in the National Guard Armory today.

Immediately following the admission of the legion into the fold, a debate as to its eligibility to vote at the election tomorrow was begun and lasted some time.

Major Frederick A. Walker, commander of the legion, stated that the 4,500 men which he represented did not ask to be allowed to vote for the commander-in-chief. Major Walker said the members of the legion did not come to the encampment with any intention whatsoever of entering into the politics of the nation.

LESS FICTION READ IN WASHINGTON

Superintendent of Public Library Says Deeper Works Grow.

That the booklovers of Washington are developing a decided taste for the deeper works in preference to works of fiction, is the statement which George F. Bowerman, librarian of the Public Library, makes today in his annual report of the workings of the institution over which he is the head.

"Not only has there been an increase in the number of books in the library," says Mr. Bowerman, "but there has also been a distinct improvement in the character of the books read. The percentage of fiction circulation, which was 33.7 per cent in 1904 and 33.8 per cent last year, has dropped to 28 per cent this year. In other words, in the last two years only about one-third of the great increase of total circulation has been fiction."

Indicating the growing popularity of reading, Mr. Bowerman states the number of volumes in the library has increased from 73,045 to 84,083, or nearly 15 per cent. The circulation has increased 22 per cent. The total circulation was 433,000, marking a gain of 70,500. The average daily attendance in the reading room was 357, with 173 visitors on Sunday.

Referring to the juvenile circulation, indicating a decided increase, Librarian Bowerman says:

In the Children's Room.

"In the children's room the circulation increased 19 per cent over last year and 85 per cent over two years ago. The recorded attendance for the year was 91,135. The proportion of fiction read was reduced 16 per cent last year and 5 per cent this year, and now stands 62 per cent of the entire juvenile circulation."

The Public Library's needs are brought out strongly by Librarian Bowerman. He says:

"The vital needs of the library are more books and more assistants. Endowments or donations to buy certain classes of books are also much needed. The appropriation for books should be $25,000 annually. The special book appropriation is exhausted and the desk fund resources will soon be drained."

The offer of Andrew Carnegie to establish several branch libraries in the vicinity of Washington is strongly approved by Librarian Bowerman. On this question he says:

Carnegie's Offer.

"The trustees appeal for hearty public co-operation in a vigorous effort to pass through the House at the approaching session of Congress the bill which has already passed the Senate, involving the acceptance by Congress of Mr. Carnegie's offer to donate whatever money may be required from time to time to build all necessary branch libraries in the District on the usual maintenance terms upon which his gifts are conditioned."

In his estimates for the support of the public library during the fiscal year 1907, Librarian Bowerman asks for a total of $73,900, an increase of $2,540 over the sum appropriated for ensuing year. The increase is to add to the library's working force twenty-one assistants; a librarian's secretary at $1,000 a year; a chief of circulating department, $1,500 a year; reference librarian, $1,000; chief of order department, $1,000; chief of catalogue department, $1,500; and numbers of others at various salaries.

view the parade. The annual ball will be given tonight in the Masonic Temple. Yesterday's meeting was given over almost entirely to speaking and to social duties. Mrs. Mary E. Gedney, president of the Auxiliary, delivered her annual address, during which she said that the purpose of the women was to join forces in the interest of the principles which formed the foundation of the organization.

Mrs. Galloway, department president for the District, said it gave her much pleasure to welcome the members and officers to the Capital, and that she trusted the program prepared for their entertainment might ever serve as a souvenir of Washington and live long in their memories.

Macfarland Bids Woman Patriots Hearty Welcome

Commissioner Macfarland today delivered the address of welcome to the women's auxiliaries of the Spanish War Veterans during their regular morning session in the red parlor of the Exhibit Building.

Mr. Macfarland arrived at the hotel while the women were in the midst of the ceremony of initiating a baker's dozen of new members into the Edith K. Roosevelt chapter, and retreated in haste to keep another engagement, returning later.

The ceremony of initiation was attended with much dignity, and the session was effective.

Viewed through the intervening glass doors, the ceremony was attended by interesting features. It was performed by the color team of Isabel Alexander Auxiliary, of Cleveland, Ohio. Members of the escort wore white gowns and carried large American flags. They met the prospective members at the same glass doors and each one of the escort took charge of one of the novitiates.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the minutes of yesterday's session were read, and by that time Commissioner Macfarland had returned and addressed the convention.

The convention adjourned at noon to Reception Tonight.

Tonight the veterans and members of the National Auxiliary will attend a reception given by the Lineal Society in the parlors of the Exhibit House at 8 o'clock.

Department Commander J. Walter Mitchell's resolution to the effect that the canteen should be reintroduced into the regular army, was received with unanimous approval and won the support of those attending. The committee on resolutions referred the matter to the legislative committee with instructions that a bill be presented to Congress at its coming session voicing the opposition of the United Spanish War Veterans to the existing law relative to drink in the army.

The Indiana Department offered a resolution expressing themselves opposed to all forms of amputation in appointing cadets to West Point or Annapolis Academies. The resolution was adopted.

A resolution was passed requesting of the President and Congress that suitable bronze medals with ribbons be issued to each honorably discharged soldier, sailor and marine for service rendered.

Record-Breaking Names Of Aristocratic Family

Head of Old Norman Household Displayed
Remarkable Ingenuity in Selecting Odd and Romantic Names for Children.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Tollemache-Tollemache (pronounced Tallmash) family, an aristocratic line, whose pedigree goes back to the Norman Conquest and beyond, makes a specialty of numerous and extraordinary names illustrating its Saxon-Norman origin and its connections with many of the great titled families.

The approaching marriage of Leo Quintus Tollemache-Tollemache de Orleanus Plantagenet Tollemache-Tollemache has brought attention to this peculiarity of his family.

The Rev. Ralph William Lyonel Tollemache-Tollemache had fourteen children, and displayed amazing ingenuity in finding for them odd and romantic-sounding names in great variety. The variations on his own name, Lyonel, were particularly ingenious, as the following selection from the T-T family Bible shows:

Mabel Elmingham Ethel Huntingtower Bertrio Buzonberrie Evange-line Visa de Los de Orellana Plantagenet Tadmag Saxon.

Lyonessa de Matilda Dora Ida Agnes Ernestine Curson Paulet Wilbraham Joyce Engenie Bentley Saxonla Dyasart Plantagenet.

CAT TAKEN TO COURT AS WITNESS IN SUIT

PERU, Ind., Oct. 8.—"Exhibit A" in a legal proceeding in the estate of John Lowmyer, deceased, now pending at Kansas City, is a big gray cat eleven years of age. He has been a lifelong resident of Knox, Ind., and a few days ago left that city for Kansas City to make his appearance in the Missouri court and in establishing a claim for $500 left by Lowmyer in his will.

Mrs. Matilda L. Swanson, the cat's guardian, is acting as his chaperon on the journey, and to her the money will be paid in due course of law.

In 1886 a rich relative of Lowmyer's died and left him some money, so he hurriedly departed to take possession. Mrs. Swanson agreed to take care of the cat. New Lowmyer has died leaving Mrs. Lowmyer $500 for taking care of the pet. It is demanded by the court that Mrs. Swanson prove her identity and she is taking the cat with her as part proof.

GUIDED THROUGH LIFE BY SPIRIT OF MOTHER

WELLS, Me., Oct. 8.—After asserting that the spirit of his mother is continually at his side, James Rideout, of Wells, Me., is going through life, being guided, he says, in every word, thought and deed, by the love of his departed parent. When going anywhere he believes he feels the touch of a hand upon his arm.

According to his story, there have been many times in his life when both his money and his life have been saved by his allowing himself to be governed by what he terms the voice of his mother.

Returning from Portland one day he yielded to a presentiment, and waited for a car that would follow the one he was in the habit of taking regularly. He let the latter one go by, and a short distance out of Portland it was smashed in a collision that mangled several passengers and killed a man who was in the seat habitually occupied by Rideout.

He Who Chews Will Know The Proof is in the Chewing

The wholesome flavor and delightful, appetizing aroma of the tobacco grown in the famous Piedmont tobacco belt continues to create and popularize man's fondness for chewing tobacco. Lovers of real tobacco pass the good thing along—one chewer makes another chewer—until there are now many more chewers and more pounds of tobacco chewed, to the population, in those States where SCHNAPPS tobacco was first sold, than there are in the States where SCHNAPPS has not yet been offered to the trade.

Only choice selections of well matured, thoroughly cured tobaccos, grown in the famous Piedmont tobacco belt, are used in making SCHNAPPS.

That's why it has a better quality and more lasting flavor than the tobacco formerly sold to chewers at double the price they now pay for SCHNAPPS.

That's why a 10-cent plug of SCHNAPPS is more economical than a much larger plug of cheap tobacco.

That's why SCHNAPPS wins all classes of chewers: the rich, because they do not find a chew to really please them better at any price; the poor, because they get their money's worth of the real snappy chew and flavor not found in the highly sweetened mixtures. Neither the rich nor the poor wish to chew tobacco so intensely sweet that its true flavor and tooth-preserving quality are lost.

Look for the word "SCHNAPPS" on the tag, and on the plug under the tag and then you have it—the most wholesome tobacco produced, with just enough sweetening to preserve the quality and bring out the flavor—the real tobacco flavor that stimulates and satisfies.

Sold at 50c. per pound in 5c. cuts. Strictly 10c. and 15c. plugs.
